

Franco Recognized By Britain, France

ARMISTICE FOR LONG CONFLICT STILL PENDING

Only United States,
Russia Recognize
Loyalists

Paris, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Great Britain and France accorded full recognition to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Nationalist government of Spain today after a week end in which Madrid government leaders stated an armistice was being arranged to end the civil war.

First Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced to the British house of commons that his government had accorded recognition to the Franco regime. Shortly afterward the French cabinet met with Premier Edouard Daladier and President Albert Lebrun and took similar action.

The joint decision meant that only the United States and Soviet Russia among the great powers now recognize the old government of Spain as the real government.

To Vacate Embassy
The Madrid government's ambassador to Paris and his staff made it known they would formally vacate the embassy immediately upon official notification of the government's decision. The embassy was stripped of all records and personal belongings of its personnel, but furniture and decorations were left intact for the incoming Nationalist occupants.

The president of the old regime, Manuel Azana, already had gone into retirement at a small French town near the Swiss border, and publication of his resignation was expected momentarily.

Chamberlain in his London announcement told commons that "there can be no doubt now of the ultimate issue of the struggle." He said Chamberlain had professed determination to "secure the traditional independence of Spain" and to call before Nationalist courts only those Madrid government followers "against whom criminal charges are laid."

Urges Conference
Chamberlain said that he was eager to call an international conference for removal of economic and political grievances "whenever such discussion could be assured of 'any chance of success.' He said, however, that this time had not yet come and that "a considerable amount of preliminary preparation would be necessary."

He declared such a conference would work for "a settlement which includes limitation of armaments and removal of all barriers to international trade."

An end of the 31-months-old Spanish civil war, which has taken more than 1,000,000 lives, was heralded Saturday when the Madrid government spokesman in Paris disclosed that armistice arrangements were being made. This was to allow evacuation of military and political leaders from the Madrid-Valencia zone.

PHILADELPHIA MAYOR INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Mayor S. Davis Wilson
Charged 2nd Time
On "Misbehavior"

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Mayor S. Davis Wilson was indicted a second time today at the recommendation of a special grand jury investigating charges of police collusion with gamblers.

Indictments against the mayor last September on the same charges—misbehavior in office, failure to suppress gambling and preventing witnesses from testifying before a legislative committee studying criminal courts—were dismissed in court as an infraction of grand jury procedure. The superior court upheld the decision.

Police Re-Indicted
Re-indicted with the mayor today were four police captains against whom the original indictments had not been dismissed. Deputy Attorney General Bryan A. Hermes explained they were obtained to forestall any future action.

Attorney General Claude T. Reno said the new indictments corrected the procedural errors to which the courts objected.

Judge James C. Crumlish indicated that the mayor would be permitted to sign his own bond for $10,000, and the police officers for $5,000 each. Wilson is vacationing at Mineola, Florida.

Slain Dancer's Life Mystery: Family Did Not See Her Often

Sex Fiend or Jealous Suitor
Sought in Murder Of Anyia Sosoyeva

Los Angeles, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Anyia Sosoyeva, slain Russian dancer, lived as the dead, mysterious beauty, police sought today to find where she was the 30 minutes before she was fatally bludgeoned on the Los Angeles City College campus last Saturday night.

Fred J. Susoff told the officers his sister, born Nina Susoff, kept details of her life hidden from her family.

Susoff said he had seen the Ziegfeld and Goldwyn Polles beauty only about three times in the last 20 years, when she rode with him and his wife from San Francisco to their home at Buttonwillow, near Bakersfield.

Detectors said they believe Miss Sosoyeva, who had been attending dramatic classes at City College, may have been struck down by a jealous suitor who held a grudge against her, or by a sex fiend who waited for his unprotected woman to walk by his hiding place.

Germany Hands Out Passports to Jews

Berlin, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Germany began handing out "J" passports to Berlin Jews today as fast as formalities could be completed.

This reversed a previous policy which required that passports would be granted only to those likely to receive permission to enter foreign countries.

The reason for the change apparently was to provide Jews with passports as swiftly as possible and tell them to leave Germany soon under an order effective today that requires the emigration of 100 Berlin Jews daily.

As a result, a new wave of Jews descended on foreign consulates for seeking them to speed up promised visas or asking to be placed on waiting lists.

Consular officials said that despite the German police order visas could not be granted faster or in greater numbers than the laws of the country concerned permitted.

Son of Pastor at Chapin Noted for Lincoln Carvings

Began as Pen and Ink Artist, Turned to Carving Wood; Is Ventriloquist

Arthur G. Steving of Springfield, son of Rev. J. H. F. Steving, pastor of the Lutheran church, Chapin, is creating much favorable comment as a Lincoln artist and wood carver. A recent drawing in pen and ink showing a reproduction of four events in Lincoln's life has been on display in Springfield.

The drawing was made from the famous Gardner photograph, and has never been shown before. It shows Lincoln, his birthplace, his Springfield home, the White House, and his tomb. Steving's ability as an artist has developed from a hobby. He is now at work producing a group of small statues made of plaster and portraying various comic individuals of his own conception.

Mr. Steving has been known as a pen artist, but seven years ago he took up woodcarving as a pastime. He has made numerous carvings of Lincoln. Four years ago he made a set of carvings which he sold to the Ivanhoe club of Chicago for $350. More recently he has become known for his ventriloquism. Since he carved and constructed "Harry O'Shea" two years ago, he has been in almost constant demand for public and private meetings.

As a student of Lincolniana, he once made a woodcarving of "The Rail-splitter" which is housed in a glass case in his home. Steving's grandfather, Bernard Steutte, who built the house in which Steving now lives, attended Lincoln's funeral. Steving now has the sleeve badge worn by his grandfather at the funeral.

Wife of Former I.C. President Has Left Big Taxable Estate

Inheritance Tax Return Shows $666,901 Was Fortune of Mrs. C. W. Barnes

Mrs. Alice Reid Barnes, late wife of Clifford W. Barnes, former president of Illinois college, left an estate of $666,901, according to inheritance tax returns filed by Dr. Barnes with Jay Morse, clerk of the county court of Lake county. Dr. Barnes has been for many years president of the Chicago Sunday Evening Club.

Mrs. Barnes died May 12 in the family home, Glen Rowan, 500 North Sheridan road, Lake Forest. She was the daughter of the late Simon Reid, founder of Reid Murdoch & Co. Mrs. Barnes inherited a half interest in the trust estate of her father, with power of appointment to dispose of it as she wished. According to the law firm of Sidley, McPherson, Austin & Burgess, attorneys for Mr. Barnes, Mrs. Barnes did not dispose of her full share in creating her will, but left part of it in the Reid estate.

Deductions for debts and expenses of administration left a net estate of $538,097, the bulk of which was left to Mr. Barnes. Mr. Barnes, as executor, estimated the state inheritance tax would amount to $30,477 and the federal estate tax to $92,440. The Visiting Nurse association and the Young Women's Christian association, each were left a $37,000 trust.

Gillham Bowlers Set Hot Pace In Tri-Valley Tournament

Springfield Wins In Catholic Tournament; Rockets In 4th Place

Springfield—Catholic high's Cy-clones, of Springfield, are the down-state Catholic high school basketball champions this year. The husky Cy-clones captured the title Sunday night from Corpus Christi of Galesburg, the team that eliminated Routt high of Jacksonville in the semi-finals, with a 23 to 18 score.

Cathedral of Belleville, downed by the Cyclic Springfield team in a dramatic semi-final tussle 31 to 28, went into third place by taking Routt into camp 30 to 25, after the Rockets had set the pace through the first half. Quincy Academy won the consolation championship by beating St. Joseph's of Rock Island 27 to 18.

Bill Henry, Jacksonville guard, was selected for the all-tournament team, along with Bob Lucas, and Eddie Sommers, of Springfield. Jim Poque of Corpus Christi and Vernon Winter, of Belleville.

The Rockets hit a case of "buck fever" in the semi-finals when they ran into the Corpus Christi team, em-playing a zone defense for the first time in the tournament to check the fast breaking Galesburg crew that had eliminated Spaulding, of Peoria, in the second round. Spaulding was one of the favorites to capture the state crown, but Corpus Christi cut them down with a blistering fast break.

Galesburg also tossed up a zone defense to confound the Rockets, but there were only a few times during the game when Routt showed the same drive that took them to victory over Freeport and Sterling quintets. They were close to Corpus Christi all the way, but gradually fell behind as the Corpus Christi lads bombarded the hoop.

Routt trailed at the end of the first quarter of the cautiously played game 4 to 2, and 8 to 6 at the half. Opening the second half, Corpus Christi jumped out to a 12 to 6 lead, the Rockets coming back to make the count 13 to 9 at the end of the quarter. Play speeded up in the last quarter when the Rockets attempted to rush Corpus Christi with a man-to-man defense, but they were unable to get away on fast breaks, and only a few of their shots dropped to points.

The Rockets set the pace in the first half of the consolation game before a crowded house in the evening, but the smooth working Belleville team cut them down with a typical last half rally. Routt led 7 to 8 at the end of the first quarter, and 14 to 13 at half time, but trailed 19 to 16 as the final quarter opened.

Bernard Ferry, big Routt center, tossed in 64 points during the four games the Rockets played in the tournament, an average of 16 points a game.

Routt won the A. Dirksen trophy for fourth place.

Blueboys Wind Up Cage Season With Monmouth Quintet

Reigel to Take Full Squad On Last Trip; Lost To Scots Here

Illinois College's basketball season draws to a close tonight when the Blueboys go to Monmouth for an Ivy conference game. Illinois lost to the Scots when they played here, but since that time Monmouth has been hit by illness and ineligibility, and therefore the hopes of the local quintet are a bit brighter.

Coach Robert Reigel will take a full squad to Monmouth for the final game. He will have George Moxon and other Bob Hamm or Gumbel at forwards, Capt. Ira Scott at center, John Bellati and Art Yates at guards on his starting string.

The game is the last for Capt. Scott, but all of the others have more competition ahead of them. Bellati, Moxon, Hamm and Yates are juniors, and Gumbel is a sophomore, and rated as one of the best players to turn up here in some time.

Ashland Ag Club Beats J. H. S. Team

With two first string players down with flu, the Jacksonville High ag club dropped a hard-fought basketball game to Ashland here last night, 16 to 13. It was the first setback for the J. H. S. squad except in tournament play. The Jacksonville ag club seconds trounced Ashland reserves 23 to 6.

Paul Ketter, Jacksonville, and D. Agert, Ashland, handled the game which was played at Lafayette gym.

Wheat Prices Drop Almost One Cent

Chicago, Feb. 27.—(AP)—With good rains and snows reported widely distributed over the winter wheat belt, wheat prices dropped almost a cent a bushel today.

Selling was most pronounced in July contracts, which represent the 1939 crop. Traders said precipitation was very heavy in some localities and undoubtedly would be very beneficial to wheat particularly in view of the fact that the growing season is at hand. The acreage planted to wheat is considerably smaller than a year ago but crop conditions in most districts are regarded as favorable.

Wheat opened about 1 cent lower, wiping out the advance scored late Saturday. During the next hour fluctuations were very narrow with trading slow but after Liverpool closed 1-1 cent down further selling appeared here, giving the market another setback from which it showed no material rally. Wheat closed 1-1 lower than Saturday, May and July 68-1/2; corn 1-1 down, May 48-1/2, July 49-1/2; oats 1-1 lower; rye 1 off; lard 5 to 8 cents lower.

New York Stock Market

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Stocks jogged over an uneven route in today's market with rails about the only group able to extend last week's rally.

A few utilities, rubbers and specialties managed to work moderately higher while steels, motors, mail orders and aircrafts relinquished portions of their recent advance.

Steels came back somewhat when this week's mill operations were estimated up 2.1 points at 55.8 per cent of capacity, a new high for the year to date.

Transfers totalled 745,425 shares against 987,390 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 80 stocks was up 1 of a point at 51.3, owing to a net gain of 3 of a point in the rail composite.

Hogs Down Despite Decline in Receipts

Chicago, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Hog prices were 15 to 25 cents lower today despite receipts that were smaller than expected. Fed steers and yearlings sold steady to 15 cents down and fat lambs were up as much as 25 cents.

Hog receipts totaled 13,000, which was 3,000 less than advance estimates. In addition big packers received about 5,000 hogs direct. All weights were 15 to mostly 25 cents under Friday's average. A few small lots topped at $8.25, but practical top for the market was $8.15 with bulk of good and choice 170 to 320 pound kinds getting $8.15 to $7.49. Lessened demand for pork because of the Lenten season influenced the dressed markets.

There was little change in yearlings while steers were steady to 25 cents off, medium grades with weight showing most downturn. Trade was slow. Extreme top of $13.25 was paid for 1,274 pound steers. Best yearlings brought $11.75 with no strictly choice kinds available.

Fat lambs were strong to 25 cents higher, topping at $9.50 to shippers and $9.40 to packers.

STATE STREET GO-TO-CHURCH SERVICES ARE LARGELY ATTENDED

In spite of sickness among the members and inclement weather, Go-to-Church Sunday services at State Street church were well attended. Officials of the church expressed satisfaction with the showing made by members and friends of the church.

Sickness prevails in one family in four of the church membership.

Dr. Schillerstrom preached on the theme, "Shall We Imitate Christ During Lent?" He spoke of Christ's Humility. His straightforwardness. His Brotherliness. His Reverence as qualities of Character for Christians to imitate today.

The choir under the direction of Miss Mahala McGee led the songs and rendered a beautiful anthem. They wore their new choir robes for the first time. Worshippers at this service were heard to express pleasure and appreciation for the fine choir this church has.

At the Young People's society meeting after the supper the group went to the newly arranged class room for a Lenten altar service conducted by the pastor. Other speakers will present Lenten messages in the programs for this Tuxis group.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Jeff, without knowing it, is in love with Susie and Susie, now beautiful, is thinking only of Dick Tremaine, the man she once loved.

CHAPTER XX

THE days hurried by. On Sunday, Susie's picture, together with articles of clothing and allure, filled one page of the paper. She was carefully posed, giving the impression of smartness without sophistication, glamor without conscious artistry. She was pointed out in restaurants and on the street, she was interviewed and talked about.

She talked sweetly with patrons of the store, she smiled until her face felt like a stiff mask, she posed and displayed her finery and allowed herself to be scrutinized until a little of the first rapture wore off. She assured hundreds of doubters that she was the fat, dowdy Susie first pictured.

A few days before Christmas, in the interest of publicity, to keep it alive as long as possible, John Harker gave an exclusive little party. He took Susie, Edna and Jeff to the Ambassador for dinner.

He ordered a prominent table and flowers, he let it be known that Suzanne, product of Harker's, was to be present in the Pump Room. Not entirely in sympathy with the scheme, he acted on the advice of Clifford Kane. Jeff thoroughly disapproved of the plan and Edna was only mildly in accordance.

"It won't hurt her," she told Jeff when he growled about Susie having been exploited enough and then some. "We can protect her from unpleasant notice."

Somewhat comforted by this view Jeff called for Susie. In preparation for the dinner she had gone through practically the same ritual as on the day of her debut. Jeff, waiting for her in the hotel lobby, accustomed to the change in her, sucked in his breath when she alighted from the elevator. Susie, late from the waffle irons, was a dazzling revelation of the triumph of man over matter.

SHE had not been told that the dinner was a stunt. She was unaffectedly delighted to be stepping into Chicago night life. Arriving at the Pump Room, head waiter, bowing himself, double-subordinates scurrying about, she was charmed with the white leather divans, the extravagant crystal chandeliers, the fashionable, well-bred sophistication.

And the Pump Room patrons were charmed with Suzanne. She stood in the doorway, a quaint little figure, so out-dated that she was the last word. Hair piled high on top of her head in fat, finger curls, lavish earrings on her small, uncovered ears. Her gown was a sensation in simplicity, shining slipper satin with draped shoulders.

She stood beside Jeff, unaware that necks craned, that an excited murmur ran through the crowd. They were not perfect, mouth too wide, nose too impudent, no one in the crowded dining room knew it. The Harker people had leaned over backward in their make-the-most-of-yourself campaign and Susie was the living proof of their incredible efficiency.

They were ushered to an orchid-banked table, the master of ceremonies bowing from his platform, the orchestra bleating out a fan-fare. Susie's silver sandals peeped in an out from beneath the tulle, taffeta whispered, she walked with the confident grace of healthy, exuberant youth.

Edna and Jeff did their best to appear natural, unconscious of the stares and curious comments. John Harker was silent and dignified. He didn't like it—didn't like it at all. In some vague way he felt his store was cheapened by this particular display of its wares.

Jeff murmured to his mother, "I feel like a monkey in a cage. Wouldn't be surprised if they offered me peanuts."

She laughed understandingly. "It's all right. Watch Susie—she's so cute about it all."

IT was really Susie who saved the situation. Utterly herself, with the answer his arm tightened possessively around Susie. He felt somewhat dizzied by her closeness, by the fragrance of her hair, the feel of her hand in his.

"It's Dick Tremaine, isn't it?" he blurted out suddenly. When her lashes fluttered up inquiringly he added, "I mean—he's the fellow you used to date—he's the one you love—"

"Yes," she said simply. Jeff's arm loosened, his dancing foot slumped a bit. "Well, he's a swell guy," he said, a bit disconsolately.

As they passed the orchestra stage, the music came to a rhythmic stop and the smooth, animated master of ceremonies came down the steps. He smiled ingratiatingly at Susie.

"We are honored by your presence," he said. "May I introduce you to the guests?"

Susie drew back. "I'd rather not," she declined, shaking her head.

I. S. D. Gets Back in City With Central States Deaf Trophy

Make Plans to Get in National Tournament Later in Spring; 2 on All-Stars

Illinois School for the Deaf basketballers are back in Jacksonville with a brand new Central States deaf tournament championship, and they are making a lot of plans to attend a national deaf school tournament later this spring, if it can be arranged.

The Tigers took the championship with three victories at the Missouri School for the Deaf, their sixth title in the 15 years of tournament history. It also was the first Central States title Coach Kenneth Wilson won, since they were unable to attend last year's tournament, held during the same week as the regional basketball tournaments for high school teams.

Two of the Tigers made the all-star team, and another was placed on the second team. Percy Burris and Joe Bulliner were picked for the all-stars varsity, and Joe Grovatta for the second team. W. Ripley, Missouri center, won the "most valuable player" award, which was presented by Dr. D. T. Cloud of the Illinois school.

There were six games in the tournament, and two of them went into an overtime session. I. S. D. won its overtime game from Wisconsin Saturday afternoon 31 to 27 when Grovatta dropped in a long shot and Burris potted the bucket from a corner. The Tigers noted out their last opponent Saturday night, Ohio, 26 to 23.

Four teams took part in this year's tournament, Indiana being prevented from attending by a case of scarlet fever which broke out in the school the day before the squad was to leave for the tournament. Michigan also dropped out because the administration there has ruled that the team may play only one game in 24 hours. The tournament schedule calls for two games a day when all teams are playing. Wisconsin, defending champions, won second, Ohio third and Missouri fourth.

School officials now are scanning the possibility of arranging a national deaf school tournament to bring together Illinois, Central States champion, Minnesota, Mid-west champion, and the winners in the eastern and southern states.

David Mudgett, of the Illinois school faculty, a member of the All-American Basketball Board for deaf schools, announced the all-star teams. He also was present as observer at the tournament.

I. S. D. meets Jacksonville high in the first game of the Virginia regional tournament Wednesday night.

Jerseyville—The Jersey Township high school entrants in the vocal and piano events at the district meet to be held in Greenfield on March 11th, were selected in a preliminary contest held Thursday evening, February 23rd at the local auditorium.

An interesting feature of the preliminary was the fact that three cousins, Harriet Virginia Thatcher, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Thatcher, Martha Leigh Thatcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thatcher, and Velma Jane Thatcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thatcher, carried off first honors in their divisions.

52 Years at Work

THOMAS Z. FLETCHER

Thomas Z. Fletcher, chef at the State Hospital here, will observe his 52nd birthday anniversary today by working at the job he has held for more than a half century.

A native of England, he became chef in 1887 when there were only 650 patients in the institution. The hospital population is now 3,290.

Fletcher estimates he has spent about 189,000 hours in the service and has prepared more than 56,000 meals. He has served under ten governors and as many managing officers of the institution.

Many of his recipes, including his specialty of English plum pudding, have been used on the menus of other state institutions.

Class Hears Talks On Flu Prevention

Members of J. H. S. Biology Class Speak at Meeting Of Freshmen

Three members of the Jacksonville high school biology classes, taught by Miss Helen Kamm, gave short talks on influenza prevention to the regular weekly meeting of the freshman class yesterday afternoon in the J. H. S. auditorium. The program was preceded by a short business meeting conducted by the vice-president of the group, Ralph Smith, and the secretary, Virginia Van Noy.

A discussion of body resistance was given by Eleanor Percy. It was noted that despite the various barriers to disease germs set up by the human body, many germs are admitted through the mouth and nose.

Mary Kay Hardesty, the second speaker, stated that absences from school are caused more from the common, often neglected, cold than any other condition. The cold is found to be very contagious and often leads to more serious complications, such as influenza, measles, and pneumonia.

The best methods of combating the condition, as pointed out by Miss Hardesty, are to eat wholesome food, use good garlic, eat first and fresh air, and call a doctor if cold continues or grows worse.

Duane Katz, the final speaker, told the dangers of two conditions often arising from the common cold: influenza, which is widespread in the city schools at present, and pneumonia. Both conditions easily develop from lack of care and treatment of colds. The best means of preventing contraction of the flu is to stop the first traces of a cold. In order to eliminate danger of epidemic, all persons with colds should treat them and remain at home.

Paul Lindemann, member of the freshman class, served as chairman during the program.

Rural School Has 5 Pupils, All Boys; Four Are Brothers

The average Morgan county rural school has from eight to twenty pupils, boys and girls, representing most of the grades in each unit, but Providence, southwest of Franklin, has a claim to the unique found in few county districts.

There are five pupils, all boys, and four of them are brothers!

The number is not unusual. Many of these one-room centers of education have from two to ten pupils.

Others are overcrowded, with an overworked teacher attempting to instruct work in eight grades and handle two dozen restless young personalities.

Attempts have been made to centralize rural school facilities by legislative action, and a bill is now pending in the Illinois assembly for that purpose. From reactions of residents of rural sections in this area, the problem of transportation to these "united" schools would be the greatest difficulty.

A representative of the Journal and Courier visited Providence and Science Hill schools yesterday, speaking on "The Story of the Newspaper."

Pupils at Providence are Raymond Waters, Frank Spires, Joe Spires, Bill Spires and Robert Spires. The teacher is Miss Ruby Smith.

Pupils at Science Hill are Guskie Kilver, Betty Witham, Lester Luttrell, Marvin Bland, Roy Tholen, Raymond Witham, Dorothy Mikel, Beulah Looker, Jack Kilver, Wendell Wilson, Barbara Tholen, Helen Cooper, Frank Looker, Leila Mikel, Albert Bland, Barbara John Smith, Margaret Ann Hase, Joanne Smith, Mrs. Anna Hase, and Mrs. Hase is the teacher.
